Fair Venus' train appear,
Disclose the long-expecting slowers,
And wake the purple year!
The Attic warbler pours her throat,
Responsive to the cuckow's note,
The untaught harmony of spring:
While, whisp'ring pleasure as they fly,
Cool Zephyrs thro' the clear blue sky
Their gather'd fragrance sling.

Where'er the oak's thick branches stretch A broader browner shade;
Where'er the rude and moss-grown beech O'er-canopies the glade *,
Beside some water's rushy brink
With me the Muse shall sit, and think
(At ease reclin'd in rustic state)
How vain the ardour of the Crowd,
How low, how little are the Proud,
How indigent the Great!

Still is the toiling hand of Care;
The panting herds repose:
Yet hark! how thro' the peopled air
The busy murmur glows!
The insect youth are on the wing,
Eager to taste the honied spring,
And sloat amid the liquid noon †:
Some lightly o'er the current skim,

<sup>*——</sup>a bank,
O'er-canopied with luscious woodbine.

Some shew their gayly-gilded trim Quick-glancing to the sun ‡.

To Contemplation's fober eye *
Such is the race of Man;
And they that creep, and they that fly,
Shall end where they began.
Alike the Busy and the Gay
But flutter thro' life's little day,
In Fortune's varying colours drest;
Brush'd by the hand of rough Mischance,
Or chill'd by Age, their airy dance
They leave, in dust to rest.

Methinks I hear, in accents low, The sportive kind reply; Poor Moralist! and what art thou! A solitary sly!

Thy joys no glittering female meets,
No hive hast thou of hoarded sweets,
No painted plumage to display:
On hasty wings thy youth is slown;
Thy sun is set, thy spring is gone———
We frolic, while 'tis May.

ON THE DEATH OF A

FAVOURITE CAT

Drowned in a Tub of Gold Fishes.

Where China's gayest art had dy'd The azure slowers that blow;
Demurest of the taby kind,
The pensive Selima reclin'd,
Gaz'd on the lake below.

20 ODE ON THE DEATH

Her conscious tail her joy declar'd;
The fair round face, the snowy heard,
The velvet of her paws,
Her coat, that with the tortoise vies,
Her ears of jet, and cmerald eyes,
She saw, and purr'd applause.

Still had she gaz'd; but 'midst the tide'
Two angel forms were seen to glide,
The Genii of the stream;
Their scaly armour's Tyrian hue
Thro' richest purple to the view
Betray'd a golden gleam.

The hapless nymph with wonder saw:

A whisker first and then a claw,

With many an ardent wish,

She stretch'd in vain to reach the prize.

What semale heart can gold despise?

What cat's averse to sish?

Presumptuous maid! with looks intent Again she stretch'd, again she bent,

OF A FAVOURITE CAT. 2x

Nor knew the gulf between:
(Malignant Fate fat by and fmil'd)
The slipp'ry verge her feet beguil'd,
She tumbled headlong in.

Eight times emerging from the flood
She mew'd to ev'ry wat'ry God,
Some speedy aid to send.
No dolphin came, no Nereid stirr'd;
Nor cruel Tom, nor Susan heard;
A fav'rite has no friend!

From hence, ye beauties, undeceiv'd,
Know, one false step is ne'er retriev'd,
And be with caution bold.
Not all that tempts your wand'ring eyes
And heedless hearts, is lawful prize;
Nor all that glisters, gold.

26 ODE ON A DISTANT

And ye, that from the stately brow Of Windson's heights th' expanse below Of grove, of lawn, of mead survey, [among Whose turf, whose shade, whose slowers Wanders the hoary Thames along His silver-winding way:

Ah happy hills, ah pleasing shade,
Ah fields belov'd in vain,
Where once my careless childhood stray'd,
A stranger yet to pain!
I feel the gales that from ye blow,
A momentary bliss bestow,
As waving fresh their gladsome wing,
My weary soul they seem to sooth,
And, * redolent of joy and youth,
To breathe a second spring.

Say, Father THAMES, for thou hast seem Full many a sprightly race

* And bees their honey redolent of spring.

PROSPECT OF ETON COLLEGE. 27

Disporting on thy margent green
The paths of pleasure trace,
Who foremost now delight to cleave
With pliant arm thy glassy wave?
The captive linnet which enthrall?
What idle progeny succeed
To chase the rolling circle's speed,
Or urge the slying ball?

While some on earnest business bent
Their murm'ring labours ply
'Gainst graver hours, that bring constraint
To sweeten Liberty:
Some bold adventurers disdain
The limits of their little reign,
And unknown regions dare descry;
Still as they run they look behind,
They hear a voice in every wind,
And snatch a fearful joy.

Gay Hope is theirs by Fancy fed, Less pleasing when possess; The tear forgot as seon as shed, The sunshine of the breast:

28 ODE ON A DISTANT

Theirs buxom Health of rosy hue,
Wild Wit, Invention ever new,
And lively Chear of vigour born,
The thoughtless day, the easy night,
The spirits pure, the slumbers light,
That sly th' approach of morn.

Alas, regardless of their doom,
The little victims play!
No sense have they of ills to come,
Nor care beyond to-day.

Xet see how all around them wait
The ministers of human sate,
And black Missortune's baleful train!
Ah, shew them where in ambush stand
To seize their prey the murth'rous band!
Ah, tell them they are men!

These shall the sury Passions tear,
The vultures of the mind,
Disdainful Anger, pallid Fear,
And Shame that skulks behind;
Or pining Love shall waste their youth,
Or Jealousy with rankling tooth,

PROSPECT OF ETON COLLEGE. 19

That inly gnaws the secret heart, And Envy wan, and saded Care, Grim-visag'd comfortless Despair, And Sorrow's piercing dart.

Ambition this shall tempt to rise,
Then whirl the wretch from high,
To bitter Scorn a facrifice,
And grinning Infamy.
The stings of Falsehood those shall try,
And hard Unkindness' alter'd eye,
That mocks the tear it forc'd to flow;
And keen Remorse with blood desil'd,
And moody Madness * laughing wild
Amidst severest woe.

Lo, in the vale of years beneath A griefly troop are seen, The painful family of Death, More hideous than their queen:

Madnets laughing in his ireful mood.

Dryden's Fable of Palamon and Arcite,

30 ODE ON A DISTANT, &c.

This racks the joints, this fires the veins, That every labouring finew strains, Those in the deeper vitals rage:

Lo, Poverty to fill the band,
That numbs the soul with icy hand,
And slow-consuming Age.

To each his suffrings: all are men; Condemn'd alike to groan; The tender for another's pain, Th' unfeeling for his own. Yet ah, why should they know their fate! Since Sorrow never comes too late, And Happiness too swiftly slies. Thought would destroy their paradise, No more; where ignorance is bliss,

ADVERSITY.

Power,
Thou tamer of the human breast,
Whose iron scourge and tort'ring hour,
The Bad affright, afflict the Best!
Bound in thy adamantine chain
The Proud are taught to taste of pain,
And purple tyrants vainly groan
With pangs unselt before, unpitied and alone:

34 HYMN TO ADVERSITY.

When first thy sire to send on earth Virtue, his darling child, design'd, To thee he gave the heavenly Birth, And bade to form her infant mind. Stern rugged Nurse! thy rigid lore With patience many a year she bore: What sorrow was, thou bad'st her know, And from her own, she learn'd to melt at others' woe.

Scar'd at thy frown terrific, fly
Self-pleafing Folly's idle brood,
Wild Laughter, Noise, and thoughtless Joy,
And leave us leisure to be good.
Light they disperse, and with them go
The summer Friend, the flatt'ring Foe;
By vain Prosperity receiv'd, [believ'd,
To her they vow their truth, and are again

Wisdom in sable garb array'd, Immers'd in rapt'rous thought prosound, And Melancholy, silent maid, With leaden eye, that loves the ground, Still on thy folemn steps attend
Warm Charity, the gen'ral Friend,
With Justice to herself severe, [tear:
And Pity, dropping soft the sadly-pleasing

Oh, gently on thy Suppliant's head,
Dread Goddes! lay thy chast'ning hand;
Not in thy Gorgon terrors clad,
Nor circled with the vengeful Band,
(As by the Impious thou art seen) [mien,
With thund'ring voice, and threat'ning
With screaming Horror's funeral cry,
Despair, and sell Disease, and ghastly Poverty.

Thy form benign, oh Goddess! wear,
Thy milder influence impart,
Thy philosophic Train be there
To soften, not to wound my heart.
The generous spark extinct, revive;
Teach me to love, and to forgive;
Exact my own defects to scan,
What others are, to seel, and know myself
a Man.

40 THE PROGRESS OF POESY,

Drink life and fragrance as they flow.

Now the rich stream of music winds along,

Leep, majestic, smooth, and strong,

Thro' verdant vales, and Ceres' golden reign:

Now rowling down the steep amain, Headlong, impetuous, see it pour; The rocks, and nodding groves rebellew t the roar.

Oh! Sovereign * of the willing foul, Parent of freet and folemn-breathing airs,

The labject and finile, as not I with Pladar, are unlied. The various lowrers of poetry, which gives life and infre to all it touches, are here defer bedy its quies, majebic progress enviching every subject (otherwise dry and barren) with a parap of distion and luxuriant harmony of numbers; and is more rapid and irrefishible courfe, when twola and harded away by the constat of turniltaous pusions.

* Power of harmony to calm the terbulent shilles of the foul. The thoughts are borrowed from the fell Fythian of Floder.

Enchanting shell! the sullen Cares,
And frantic Passions, hear thy soft controul.
On Thracia's hills the Lord of War
Has curb'd the sury of his car,
And dropp'd his thirsty lance at thy command.

Perching* on the sceptred hand
Of Jove, thy magic lulls the feather'd king.
With russled plumes, and slagging wing;
Quench'd in dark clouds of slumber lie
The terror of his beak, and light'nings of his eye.

Frisking light in frolic measures;

Now in circling troops they meet;
To brisk notes in cadence beating

Slow-melting strains their Queen's approach

Fate!

The fond complaint, my fong, disprove,

44 THE PROGRESS OF POEST,

II. 2.

In climes * beyond the solar road †,
Where shaggy forms o'er ice-built mountains roam,

The Muse has broke the twilight gloom
To chear the shiv'ring native's dull abode.
And oft, beneath the od'rous shade
Of Chili's boundless forests laid,
She deigns to hear the savage Youth repeat,
In loose numbers wildly sweet,
Their feather-cinctur'd Chiefs; and dusky Loves.

Her track, where-e'er the Goddess roves, Glory pursue and generous Shame, Th' unconquerable Mind, and Freedom's holy slame.

Woods*, that wave o'er Delphi's steep,
Isles that crown th' Ægean deep,
Fields, that cool Ilissus laves,
Or where Mæander's amber waves
In linguing lab'ringhs creep,
How do your tuneful Echos languish
Mute, but to the voice of Anguish?
Where each old poetic mountain
Inspiration breath'd around;
Ev'ry shade and hallow'd sountain
Marmur'd deep a solemn sound:
Till the sad Nine in Greece's evil hour

The Earl of Surrey, and Sir Thomas Wynet, had travelled in Italy, and formed their talle there: Spenfer imitated the Italian writers; Milton improved on them: but this School expived foon after the Refloration, and a new one crose on the French model, which has sub-filted ever since.

46 THE PROGRESS OF POESY,

When Latium had her lofty spirit lost,
They sought, Oh Albion! next thy sea-encircled coast.

III. T.

Far from the fun and summer gale,
In thy green lap was Nature's Darling laid *,
What time, where lucid Avon stray'd,
To Him, the mighty Mother did unveil
Her awful face; the dauntless Child
Stretch'd forth his little arms, and smil'd.

Hark, his hands the lyre explore!
Bright-ey'd Fancy hovering o'er
Scatters from her pictur'd urn
Thoughts that breathe §, and words that

But ah! 'tis heard no more *----

I Meant to express the stately march and founding energy of Dryden's rhymes.

| Hast thou cloathed his neck with thunder?

& Words that weep, and tears that speak.

Convley.

We have had in our language no other odes of the sublime kind, than that of Dryden on St Cecilia's day; for Cowley (who had his merit) yet wanted judgment, style, and harmony, for such a task. That of Pope is not worthy of so great a man; Mr Mason, indeed, of late days, has touched the true chords, and with a masterly hand, in some of his choruses,—above all in the last of Caractacus;

Oh! Lyre divine, what daring spirit Wakes thee now! tho' he inhesit

"Hark! heard you not you footstep dread,
That shook the earth with thund'ring tread?
Twas Death.—In haste
The warrior past;
High tower'd his helmed head:
I mark'd his mail, I mark'd his shield,
I spy'd the sparkling of his spear,
I saw his giant arm the faulchion wield;
Wide wav'd the bickering blade, and fir'd the angry air.

I. 2.

To lead you to the fields of fate
I come. You car,
That cleaves the air,
Descends to throne my state:
I mount your champion and your God.
My proud steeds neigh beneath the thong;
Hark! to my wheels of brass, that rattle loud!
Hark! to my clarion shrill, that brays the woods among.

I. 3.

Fear not now the fever's fire, Fear not now the death-bed groan, Pangs that torture, pains that tire, Bed-rid age with feeble moan;

THE PROGRESS OF POEST,

Nor the pride, nor ample pinion, That the Theban eagle bear *,

These demestic terrors wait

Hourly at my palace gate;

And when o'er slothful realms my rod I wave,

These on the tyrant king and coward slave

Rush with vindictive rage, and drag them to their grave.

II. I.

But you, my fons! at this high hour
Shall share the fullness of my power:
From all your bows,
In levell'd rows,
My own dread shafts shall show'r.
Go then to conquest, gladly go,
Deal forth my dole of destiny;
With all my fury dash the trembling foe
Down to those darksome dens, where Rome's pale spectres ly.

II. 2.

Where creeps the Ninefold stream profound Her black inexorable round;

* Dids mpos hovina Feor. Olymp. 2. Pindar compares himself to that bird, and his enemies to ravens that croak and clamour in vain below, while it pursues its flight, regardless of their poise.

Thro' the azure deep of air;
Yet oft before his infant eyes would run
Such forms, as glitter in the Muse's ray
With orient hues, unborrow'd of the sun:
Yet shall be mount, and keep his distant way
Beyond the limits of a vulgar fate,
Beneath the Good how far—but far above the Great.

And on the bank

To willows dank,

The shiv'ring ghosts are bound.

Twelve thousand crescents all shall swell

To sull-orb'd pride, and all decline,

Ere they again in life's gay mansions dwell.

Not such the meed that crowns the sons of Freedom's line.

II. 3.

No, my Britons! battle-flain,
Rapture gilds your parting hour!
I, that all-despotic reign,
Claim but there a moment's power!
Swiftly the soul of British flame
Animates some kindred frame;
Swiftly to life and light triumphant slies,
Exults again in martial esstacies, [dies."
Again for Freedom sights, again for Freedom

The Author once had thoughts (in concert with a friend) of giving the History of English Poetry. In the introduction to it he meant to have produced some specimens of the style that reigned in ancient times among the neighbouring nations, or those who had subdued the greater part of this Island, and were our progenitors; the following three imitations made a part of them. He has long since dropped his design, especially after he had heard, that it was already in the hands of a person well qualified to do it justice, both by his taste, and his researches into antiquity.

PREFACE.

In the eleventh century, Sigurd, Earl of the Orkney Islands, went with a fleet of ships, and a confiderable body of troops. into Ireland, to the affiftance of Sistryg with the filken beard, who was then making war on his father-in-law Brian, King of Dublin: the Earl and all his forces were cut to pieces, and Sictryg was in danger of a total defeat; but the enemy had a greater loss by the death of Brian their king, who fell in the action. On Christmas-day, the day of the battle, a native of Caithness in Scotland, saw at a distance a number of persons on horseback, riding full speed towards a hill, and feeming to enter into it. Curiofity led him to follow them, till looking

Note.—The Valkyriur were female divinities, fervants of Odin (or Woden) in the Gothic mysthology. Their name figurifies Chusers of the sain. They were mounted on swift horses, with drawn swords in their hands, and in the throng of battle selected such as were destined to slaughter, and conducted them to Valkalla, the hall of Odin, or Paradise of the Brave; where they attended the banquet, and served the departed her roes with horns of mead and ale.

ANODE.

PROSE the King of Men with speed,
And saddled strait his coal-black steed;

Down the yawning steep he rode, That leads to * Hela's drear abode.

* Nisheimr, the hell of the Gothic nations, confined of nine worlds, to which were devoted all such as died of sickness, old age, or by any other means than in battle: Over it presided Hela, the Goddess of Death.

82 THE DESCENT OF ODIN.

Him the Dog of Darkness spied,
His shaggy throat he open'd wide,
While from his jaws, with carnage sill'd,
Foam and human gore distill'd:
Hoarse he bays with hideous din,
Eyes that glow, and fangs that grin;
And long pursues, with fruitless yell,
The Father of the powerful spell.
Onward still his way he takes,
(The groaning earth beneath him shakes),
Till sull before his fearless eyes
The portals nine of hell arise.

Right against the eastern gate,
By the moss-grown pile he sate:
Where long of yore to sleep was laid.
The dust of the prophetic Maid.
Facing to the northern clime,
Thrice he trac'd the runic rayme;
Thrice pronounc'd, in accents dread,
The thrilling verse that wakes the Dead;
Till from out the hollow ground
Slowly breath'd a sullen sound.
